

Sharing the Gift of Sight with Indianapolis and Around the World

I had a patient recently who purchased glasses from Warby Parker because they “give a pair for every pair you buy.” She was surprised to learn the many ways we are sharing our gift of sight with Indianapolis and around the world

Tear Down the Walls Ministry

This is a Christian ministry that helps the homeless here in Indianapolis. Brian Walls, the founder, has dedicated his life to helping these “friends”, as he calls them. Several years ago we volunteered to provide free eye care and glasses to the homeless through his ministry. This program has been rewarding to both the doctors and staff. Learn more about Brian and his ministry here: <https://www.tdwm.org/>

Partnering with Ray Skillman to Provide Free Exams and Glasses for School Children

We work through the Perry Township school counselors to provide free eye exams and glasses for school children. The school’s social workers screen the kids, then bring them to us. We have had some amazing experiences as the kids react to seeing the world clearly, some for the first time in years.

Optometry Giving Sight

This is an international organization that provides training for optometrists and helps establish eye care services around the world. Good eye sight is one of the keys to improving economic opportunity. We make a monthly donation to this wonderful organization. Find out more information at their website: <https://givingsight.org/>
